The Verdict.

From Florida to Indiana,
From old New York to young Montana,
From mountain, hill and dale
Doth echo with this same old tale:
Get along Quasy, you can't stay,
Make your bow and get away.

Old Reed has had a mighty fall,
And it is hoped has spilled some gall;
No longer will he quorum try
To count with an erratic eye.
Get along Reed, you can't stay,
Take your hat and follow Quasy.

The McKelzie bill no months will fit,
Democracy the thing will kill;
So, Uncle Ben, take it away,
And follow after Reed and Quasy.
The day a dog must have his day,
Which same is time of Reed and Quasy.

The people, rising in their might,
Have fought and won a glorious fight,
That peace and plenty once again
May spread o'er Uncle Sam's domain.
And as these three have had their day—
Uncle Ben and Reed and Quasy.

AN EGOTISTIC AGE THIS—We live in an age of self-importance, sustained and promoted by methods unknown to the simple minds of our ancestors. The interviewer and recorder of special gossip have artfully created a daily war which they themselves supply. If A, the millionaire, adds an acre to his estate, we ascertain the price paid for it almost as soon as he does. We could pass a creditable examination upon the habits of Z, the essayist, during working hours; we are thrice familiar with the arrangement of his furniture, and have even learned what pens he uses. The harm in dwelling upon these things is not at first apparent, since we burn to know them. This weakness of mind induces the belief that our friends are eager for similar details about ourselves, and, as a natural consequence, when it is our turn to talk, the personal narrative does not lack advancement. Egotism, sucked and written, is the fashion as well as the bane of our waking day.—Scribner's Magazine

ECZEMA FROM CHILDHOOD

When an infant my body broke out all over with an eruption or rash, which became more aggravated as I grew older. Every noted physician in our section was tried or consulted. When I came of age I visited Hot Springs, Ark., and was treated by the best medical men, but was not benefited. When all things had failed I determined to try S. S. S., and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible Eczema was all gone, not a sign left; my general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease.
